Hello Memory Café Friends!

We hope this email finds you in a cool place during this heat wave. It was wonderful to see some of you at our first virtual Memory Café last month. While we cannot meet in person, using Zoom allowed us to talk, laugh, and share our experiences with one another. We are excited to offer another virtual Memory Café on July 23rd from 1:30 to 2:30 pm. The topic will be Wisconsin Wildlife and we will have a presentation from a wildlife expert. We will be using Zoom again and you will need to email Angela Meyers at ameyers@bridgeslibrarysystem.org to receive the link to connect to the Café. It will be a different link from last month so you will still need to email Angela again to receive the unique link for each virtual café. A copy of the flyer for the July Memory Café is below.

In honor of July 4th, it seems fitting to take a trip to Philadelphia. Let's beat the heat and take a virtual tour of the entire city of Philadelphia by clicking here. In addition, Independence National Historical Park offers multiple virtual tours including the Liberty Bell and Independence Hall where the Declaration of Independence was signed. Start with the Orientation Film by clicking here and then view the other videos by using this link. All of these videos can also be found on the Independence National Historical Park YouTube channel.

Want to view the actual Declaration of Independence? You can find it along with the Constitution and Bill of Rights in the National Archives. Use this link to see all 3 documents and be sure to click on each one to get an up close view.

Looking for a more in depth study of Philadelphia? You will enjoy History Making Productions' award winning documentary Philadelphia: The Great Experiment. It covers the history of Philadelphia from 1600 to 1994. You can find all 13 episodes here. If you are interested in other sites in the city of brotherly love, virtual tours for 21 different attractions in Philadelphia can be found here.

Finally, we are happy to announce that planning is underway for the 2nd Library Memory Project Family Day! Once again we will be at the Retzer Nature Center. Mark your calendars for Saturday, October 17th from 1 - 4 p.m. More details to follow.

From your Library Memory Project friends.

Stay healthy and we hope to see you soon!
